Let's Go on a Summer Learning Trip!

Check off activities as you complete them.

List your top five favorite books. Reread one of the books!

Watch a movie or a TV show, and then summarize
it for your friends.

26

Swap a book
with a friend, and read it!
Share your reaction to the book.

Ask a family member to tell you a story from his or her own life.

Go on a walk outside with your family. When you get home, write a story about it, describing the setting, how you felt, and what you saw.

Write a letter to your favorite story character. What do you want to know? Is there something you want to tell the character?

Plan a
"booknic"—
everyone should bring at least one book and one snack!

Let's Go on a Summer Learning Trip!

Check off activities as you complete them.

Read the directions for a recipe with a family member. Then help make the meal.

Use chalk to decorate your favorite quote or scene from a book or a movie.

the driveway or street with

Pick your favorite place in the house or your neighborhood, and then draw a map to get there.

Choose your it in the sunlight, whether it is outside on the deck or indoors next to a window.

to your favorite author. What would you want to know?

Watch a sunrise or a sunset, and then talk about how it makes you feel and what it makes you think.

favorite book and read

Keep a journal for a week. Write in it once a day! If you liked doing it, then continue writing for the rest of summer and beyond.

Let's Go on a Summer Learning Trip!

Check off activities as you complete them.

Read a book that became a movie then watch the movie. Which version was better?

Read a story
and create your own ending. Share the new ending with others.

Choose any country in the world and pretend you are visiting it. Write your family a postcard from there.

Draw
what a social media profile
would look like for a character in a book!

Go on a word walk. Find words that begin with each letter of the alphabet, from A-Z!

Write a poem about summer without using the words "summer" or "sun."

Put on a 10-minute play. Choose your favorite part of a book or scene from a movie, memorize it, and then act it out!

Write the word "journey" on a piece of paper. All summer, collect words and phrases that describe "journey" and add them to the list!